

GRAND OPENINGS: Southwest Florida's freshest businesses

The new Selby School includes computer classes at its location on DeSoto Road. The private school offers classes in kindergarten and grades 9 through 12.

STAFF PHOTO / DAN WAGNER

Published: Monday, September 16, 2013 at 1:00 a.m.

Last Modified: Saturday, September 14, 2013 at 5:14 p.m.

The Selby School has been opened by Community Haven for Adults and Children with Disabilities Inc., at 4405 DeSoto Road, Sarasota. The school specializes in offering students with disabilities in kindergarten and grades 9 through 12 a private school education with small teacher-to-student ratios, scheduled community outings and hands-on learning.

The school is in a 4,000- square-foot re-purposed building remodeled by Halfacre Construction, which is now home to state-of-the-art classrooms and computer labs, staff offices, an upscale re-sale store and an adjoining outdoor athletic quad facility with shade canopy for basketball, volleyball, shuffleboard and other recreational activities. communityhaven.org, 355-8808.